Note: ATOM RPG: Trudograd requires an active copy of ATOM RPG; you need to have that game installed on your computer (that's the game you are playing ATOM RPG Trudograd right now). Trudograd Story: ATOM RPG: Trudograd contains 2 new episodes which take place after the events of the previous game.In Trudograd you re-enter the post-apocalyptic Soviet Union to uncover the true nature of the enemy that threatens the remnants of humanity. And it is not some ordinary paramilitary militia, for it is made up of the technologically superior Gailon, the cyborg servants of the Evil Entity.But why and what does this entity want?This is the story of Trudograd.--- No content, all free!!!  The controls are really easy, but Trudograd is a RPG game. To move, use WASD keys. The camera will move with you. To turn around, use the arrow keys. The camera can rotate in specific directions by pressing up, down, left, right, rotation pad. Since the game is a single-player game there is no multiplayer. The game is really easy to use and manages to keep the player interested for more than 90 minutes without having to use any bullshit, like boss battles or thrash meters or endless grinding. The graphics are remarkably good for a game that has been made in 2012, and besides that it manages to look absolutely modern. The soundtrack is terrible; they could have done it better. But it's not something that will really spoil the game for the player, since it only plays a couple of times. Gameplay-wise, Trudograd is fine. It also has a very good ending, so it has a great replay value. The game has a difficulty level that can be varied; the lowest difficulty can be really easy, but when you reach the last area of the game you will see that you can get into some tough fights. The game is really well made. The player will never lose interest, and besides that the graphics and the gameplay are excellent. The only bad thing about the game is that it can be sometimes weird and hard to people's creation. But this problem is not enough to spoil the whole game and if you can get it right, you will have a really great game. The game is really interesting and I recommend it to anyone who likes simple, interesting games

If anyone wants me to post all money I've made in DE, I'll do it. I'd be happy to help anyone make some money in the game. As long as I'm getting paid, it doesn't matter how much I'm earning. If you need help in making some more XP, let me know. I can help you, I just pay less. I'm going to try to do one nice catch for everyone every league. Each time I say catch you get more XP! Let's start now! You can also go to InfinityMe and change your subscription to paid to make 30 days of Payments and I'll give you 1000XP from me. You'll have to play the game on the exact same server as the weekly payout. so close. I had to log in with the unplayed beta launcher, then kill myself and start again. lol @ my first week of Part time.. id post the full name but its my real name. Anyway the first time I did it was a camp run and had no idea what I was doing then I went on the boat and my 1stack container exploded and I went running for cover. I realize now I'd like to report it but the app store doesnt open my app as I can't get in through normal iphone. Is there a reward for reporting something for the riot guys? nephiemight wrote:So I got stung by a crafty bugger yesterday and I noticed I got 25XP for it.
